Mobile TV – A genuine television in your pocket

Digita's MobileTV brings genuine television and other future services into your pocket. MobileTV offers new-generation television and radio services combined with other mobile services. Thanks to MobileTV, you can watch your favourite programmes also when on the move and when it best suits you.

Digita is the network operator of the MobileTV network offering television, radio and data broadcasting services to all interested service providers under equal, non-discriminating conditions. Service providers may include, for example, television and radio channels, content creators as well as payTV and teleoperators. Consumers can purchase the MobileTV service and phone from a teleoperator offering the service. Teleoperators will define the costs of the service to the consumers.

Multiple Benefits of MobileTV

Genuine television into your pocket – also when you are on the move and when it best suits you. Stay updated in news, sport highlights and your other favourite programmes. Electronic programme guide, similar to those in set-top boxes, assists you in choosing programmes.

You may also be able to record the programmes you watch or listen, depending on the properties of the receiver.

Visual radio broadcasts offer extra content. When listening to the radio, you may read additional information on the programme, artist, etc. on the display of your mobile phone.

Interactive services allow you to vote for your favourite in a television competition straight from the screen.
